Most women over 40 would like to have thicker hair, smoother skin and stronger nails. Production of "collagen", a structural protein that integrally forms a resilient matrix of cells in these types of tissue slowly begins to wane as we age. Consequently, a decline in our hair volume, skin elasticity and nail strength becomes apparent.

For years, scientists have been searching for a method to help spark the regeneration of collagen production. Their research led to the discovery of "ch-OSA", a naturally-occurring compound found in BioSil, which activates the body's actual collagen-generating cells known as fibroblasts.

In clinical trials, BioSil was found to increase both hair thickness and strength by 13%, reduce fine lines and wrinkles by 30% and improve elasticity of the skin by 89%. Integrity of the nails was also noticeably improved. BioSil can help you have thicker hair, more resilient skin and stronger nails, as well.

As always, we guarantee your satisfaction.
